TRIP SUITABILITY

This trip is graded 4, high moderate. You need a good level of fitness and mobility and experience of sustained and regular walking with ascents and descents. The itinerary is designed with altitude safety in mind and to pace the trek, so each day is achievable. Some days are longer and some are shorter

All of the trails throughout the trek are well established and there is absolutely no bushwhacking required in the forested areas. The trails are a mix of earth and stone (forested areas), stone paths & steps in villages and moorland trails. There are no exposed areas with vertical drops. On the way to viewing spots where the path narrows, handrails have been placed along the trail. As you will be living at altitude for a number of days it is advisable to discuss the tour with your travel insurance company in case you need to add any special cover.

ITINERARY

Day 1: Depart the UK

Depart UK on an overnight flight to Nepal.

Day 2: Arrival in Kathmandu

Your local Tour Manager will be waiting to greet you on arrival at Tribhuvan International Airport. After transfer to your hotel, there will be free time before meeting up for a welcome briefing with your Tour Manager. We will then take a short walk to a traditional Daal Bhat restaurant for dinner.

Day 3: Patan Walking Tour

Our first full day begins with a guided walking tour of Patan. We'll explore the maze-like alleys and hidden courtyards of this fascinating area, rounding off in Patan Durbar Square – a UNESCO World Heritage site. After the tour we'll experience a Nepali cooking class where you'll learn how to create a range of delicious dishes that we'll dine on for dinner.

Day 4: Transfer to Pokhara

After an early start, we'll set off in a private transfer to the lakeside city of Pokhara – the gateway to the Mardi Himal trek. While the journey will take approximately 7-8 hours it's a beautiful route with much to see along the way. On arrival in Pokhara we check into the hotel and freshen up before stretching our legs with a walk along the lakeside. The evening is free to for you to explore at leisure and have dinner at a restaurant of your choice.

Day 5: Mardi Himal Trek: Khande – Pitam Deurali

Distance: approx. 4 miles (6 km) Ascent: 1,310ft (400m) Sleeping altitude: 6,290ft (2,100m) Today marks the start of our journey along the Mardi Himal, a lesser-travelled trail east of Annapurna Base Camp that ascends to heights of over 3,500m above sea level. Rising early, we'll drive to the trail head at Khande and begin our trek with a steep ascent through the jungle. Passing through typical Nepalese villages we'll enjoy a lunch stop at Australian Camp where on a clear day there are excellent views over the Annapurna mountain range. We'll then follow a slight incline until we reach Pitam Deurali and our accommodation for the evening - an authentic Nepalese teahouse.

It's uphill walking through thick jungle for most of the day but we'll enjoy beautiful views of the Dhaulagiri and Annapurna ranges. We'll take it slowly and steadily, ensuring there is time to take in the scenery. With luck, we may catch a glimpse of some of the region's abundant wildlife, such as deer, monkeys, and many species of rare birds. We'll reach Forest Camp and our teahouse accommodation for the night by afternoon.

Hiking through ancient rhododendron and juniper forest, we'll reach a plateau where we'll be rewarded with incredible scenery centred around Machhapuchhre (Fishtail Mountain). We'll have lunch at Low Camp before a sharp uphill ascent leads us to our teahouse in Badal Dada. The afternoon is yours to spend as you wish.

Day 8: Mardi Himal Trek: Badal Dada - High Camp

Distance: approx. 2.5 miles (4 km) Ascent: 2,000ft (610m) Sleeping altitude: 11,745ft (3,580m) Another short distance but across gentler terrain today. Weather permitting, we will have good views of Annapurna South, Hiunchuli, Gangapurna, Tare Kang, and Khangsar along the way. There'll be a stop at High Camp for lunch followed by an afternoon of rest, ready for an early start the next morning.

Day 9: Mardi Himal Trek: High Camp - Viewpoint - High Camp

Distance: approx. 5 miles (8 km) Ascent: 2,133 feet (650m) Descent: 2,133 feet (650m) Sleeping altitude: 11,745 feet (3,580m) The early wake-up call will be worth it today. After a quick breakfast, we'll embark on a torchlight trek to an elevation of 4,200m for the chance to see the sunrise over the mighty Himalayas. Watch as a new day dawns over the peak of Mardi Himal and if the weather is clear we'll also get up close views of Annapurna I (8,091m), Annapurna South, Hiunchuli, Gangapurna, Tare Kang, Khangsar, Annapurna III, and Machhapuchhre. Once the sun is up, we'll head back down to our teahouse to warm up, rest, and prepare for our last full-day trekking.

Day 10: Mardi Himal Trek: High Camp - Siding Village

Distance: approx. 6 miles (10 km) Descent: 5,560ft (1,695m) Sleeping altitude: 6,184ft (1,885m) Trekking poles are advisable today as we make the long, steep descent back to Low Camp. After lunch, we'll head southeast from the ridge through dense forest towards the Mardi Khola and Siding Village – our final stop on the trek. Once we reach Siding it's time to celebrate our achievement and enjoy a final evening with our team of porters before parting ways in the morning.

Day 11: Return to Pokhara

We travel back to Pokhara and check into the hotel. After lunch we will take a boat ride across Phewa Lake followed by a short hike up to the Peace Pagoda for stunning views of the Annapurna Massif, Pokhara and the lake. We take a bus back to the hotel.

Day 12: Transfer to Chitwan National Park

Heading south, we'll travel to the lush jungles of Chitwan National Park where we can experience a range of jungle activities. Seek out rhinos, crocodiles, and elusive Bengal tigers during a 4x4 safari, glide downriver in a wooden canoe, and keep your eyes peeled for herds of elephants and rare birds on a jungle walk.

Day 13: Jungle Safari in Chitwan National Park

This morning, we head out on a dugout canoe ride on the Rapi River with our expert boatmen/women. Often seen bathing or feeding near the water's edge are one-horned rhinos, deer, wild boar and sometimes elephants or even leopards. Disembarking we will take a guided walk through the jungle on a well defined trail. We return to our lodge for lunch and in the afternoon go for further wildlife spotting on a 4x4 safari.

Day 14: Return to Kathmandu

Departing Chitwan we'll return to Kathmandu where we will head to the northeast of the city for a guided tour of two UNESCO-listed sites. Pashupatinath is Nepal's most important Hindu temple but also one of the most important Shiva temples on the Indian subcontinent. Boudhanath is the religious and cultural centre for Nepal's considerable population of Tibetan exiles and is home to one of the largest Buddhist stupas in the world. Upon completing our tours we'll enjoy our last meal together at a rooftop restaurant overlooking the Boudhanath Stupa.

Day 15: Departure Day

After breakfast, we return to Tribhuvan International Airport for our flight home.

Teahouse accommodation - Nepal

Nepali teahouses are small, simple guesthouses that offer trail walkers a comfortable place to sleep, rest, and enjoy a hot meal. Due to their remote and high-altitude locations, teahouse facilities are often basic and hot water is not always readily available. You should also expect shared bathrooms. Rooms are usually twins and you may be asked to share a room with someone of the same gender. Most teahouses have a communal restaurant area where trekkers usually gather to eat, socialise, or read.
